general cleaning up for good health. We would call the attention of the street commissioner and health committee to the sickening and filthy condition in the rear of some of our business houses. The condition is a disgrace to these men, a shame upon our city and a blot upon the official record of our city officials for parmitting such a condition to exist.

It is to be hoped this admonition will be generally heeded, and it is probable that when the people see what an immense improvement will result in the general appearance of the city from a little individual work by each one, they will give the matter immediate attention. The weeds have so taken possession of the walk along the west side of the Eddy property that it is almost impossible for ladies to walk upon it without almost ruining their dresses. This should not be in a city like Oregon. Street Commissioner Molter and a force of men are now at work on our streets, and seem to be doing some very excellent work. Fire at New Point.

During the sterm last Friday night, Aug. 30, 1895. The new Christian church at New Point was struck by lightning, and, though the fire commenced at the top of the spire and burned very slowly, the structure was completely destroyled, owing to the fact that the fire was entirely out of reach of the men with the ladders and fire-fighting apparatus they had at their command. The lose will reach nearly $1500, with no insurance whatever. The organ, seats, part of the whatever. The organ, seats, part of the doors and windows, and almost every-thing movable were saved. The church was a new one, having been completed less than a year ago, and was dedicated Dec. 30, 1894.

The heavy rain which kept falling was the only thing that saved all the north-ern part of New Point from going up in flames. As it was a man had to be kept on the roof of William Kunkel's house, extinguishing the blazing shingles as they dropped—and they came thick and
